Charing Cross on December 4 looking very well. They were loudly cheered by some 300 people who were present, including Lord Scarsdale, Lord Roberts, Lord George Handiton, Sir Frank Younghusband, Sir Penuall Rodd, and Sir Owen Burne. They were most warmly greated.

Hours of Business: 8 A.M. TO 6 1 M. Australian Defence. The Australian Minister for Defence made asstatement on November 17 with regard to the military education of Australian officers. Arrangements were how being made with the Sydney Uhi versity to establish a Chair of Defence at a cost of allert £800 per annum, for a Professor and a couple of assistants. The co-operation of the Defence Department meant only that the University would 1861 require a little ammunition for practice. This would represent about £240 a year. By this means time would be ided over until the Government could establish a defence school of its own. The Minister also touched upon the question of paval defence. He said Captain Crosswell had informed him that the Commonwealth ought to have three cruiser destroyers, sixteen torpedo boat destroyers and fifteen torpedo boats of the first and second class. Captain Creeswell proposed to get, first of all, tour destroyers and four first class torpedo hoats. He had also reported that the "Corberns" could be withdrawn and made a torpede boat depot, and that the Queensland gunboats could be overhauled and relegated to such service as was though fit. Captain Cresswell further reported that his proposed ficet was to be regarded as a defence line within the

THE MANCHURIAN NEGOTIATIONS.

The Chino Japanese negotiations have continuously progressed since the 8th inst. It is reported that China has appointed Prince Ching, and H. E. No Tong and Had Shih-chang, plenipotentiaries to proceed to St. Potersburg and negotiste with Russia concerning Manchurlan questions.

Of the Chinese counter-proposals it is known that China agrees to allow Japan to erect telegraphs in the three Eastern provinces, but for a fixed term only. She also limits Japanese mining operations to a cortain area, and sgrees that no tax be levied on the fishing or timber-cutteing industries, China doce not allow Japan to have the manufacture of salt, nor ustablish branch lines of the Chinese Eastern Railway. The Plenipotentiaries are having sepented negotiations concerning these last-mentioned questions.

The Japanese claim to be allowed to build the extension of the Seoul-Wija Jine to Mukden is not yet agreed to, though it was once reported that China had consent ed to it. This is believed to be the point on which the hitch has occurred. China's decisive reply was expected on December 13. Baron Komura, it is expected, will visit Port Arthur, Talion, and Chemulpo, on his way home.

Countess Victoria Gleichen

Mr P. W. Machell, of the Egyptian Ministry of the Interior, was married on December 6, at the Chapel Royal, to Countess Victoria Gleichen, His Majesty the King was present, and the Archbishop of Canterbury officiated.

The Colonial Conference.

A special telegram to the Englishman, dated London, December 1, states that a Blue-book has been issued relative to the Colonial Conf rence, in which Mr Lyttelton declares that the Conference, has been postponed till the year 1807, and that the Colonies would also welcome a suggestion for holding periodic conferences.

Pashionable Rangoon Wedding.

On November 29, Miss Marjorie White, younger daughter of Sir Herbert White (Lieutenant-Governor of Burmah) and Lady White was married to Mr Maxwell Laurie, I.C.S., President of the Rangoon Municipality. The ceremony took place in the Cantonment Church, and a reception was held afterwards at Government House.

Australia and Poteign Labour.

The Commonwealth House of Representatives has passed, by 39 to 6 votes, the hrst of the Immigration Bills, which provides that the Commonwealth may arrange with the Government of any other Tinned Goods, &c., &c. country whereby morchants and tourists may enter and travel under a passport, other natives being prevented emigrating to Australia at the port of shipment.

IMPERIAL UNIVERSITY FOR

HONGKONG. In another column appears a thought ful and pertinent letter from a cor respondent in regard to the proposed Imperial University. After the melancholy foreboding and desolating hopelessness which has tainted some of the sombre criticism which has been passed since we first urged the advisableness of establishing an Imperial University at Hongkong, the receipt of letters sucl as those we published yesterday and the one which appears to-day is distinctly refreshing. KING EDWARD HOTEL

Description of the Premises.

One of the latest additions to Hongkong's architecture is the five block of buildings in which is situated the new King Edward Hotel. For some time past the proprietors of the hotel have found the rold premises inadequate to cope with their business; new promises, and the fine atructure which was opened to the public this morning is the result. The building is a six storied one. built, after the French renaissance style. It is 105 feet high to the roof and 129 to the top of the highest flagpole. The main entrance fronts on Des Voux Road and the private entrance on Ice House Stree. The building is situated on the Praya reclamation and necessitated the most expensive foundation-piles 40 to 50 feet long and a structed to keep the tide out. Messra Leigh -and Orange were the architects and deserve great praise for the success they have

The entrance from Des Voeux Road is by a circu'ar passage carried on two granite monolithic columns which formation is carried up to the top of the buildings. This front has been the subject of considerable oriticism, but for structural reasons it was found impossible to front the building with a tower, and the present formation naturally lends itself to good airy rooms and convenient fireplaces, a fact that is at once seen from the inside.

The interior of the building is panelled in teak, which we rather fancy has been spoilt to some extent by being-in places-painted white by the tenants. The main bar room is entered from Des Voeux Road and is a fine apartment containing a bar and three billiard tables. The roof is supported by columns, and the lighting, as everywhere else in the house, is electric. The office is reached from Ice House Street, which provides a private entrance for guests. At the rear of this is situated a kind of winter garden where visitors may smoke, drink, and chat in quietness, and enjoy the fresh air. An electric lift supplies an easy means of communication between the floors, and ascending by it is found the dining room, private billiard room, gentlemen's and ladies' writing and reading rooms, and the ladies' smoke room and music room, etc. Des Voeux Road or Ice House Street, and are very tastefully furnished. The dining room is capable of seating 200 people, and suitable decorations. The roof is supported by pillars and there are clusters of electric lights and an ample supply of fans. A private dining room is also arrang. Sgt. Hammond, not out, 4; Sundries, 2; ed for private dinner parties and the use of Total 119. guests. The bath-rooms, etc., are fitted up in accordance with latest sanitary require. ments, and are very conveniently arranged Hot water is installed throughout. The kitchens are worthy of special mention, being fitted with the very latest modern appliances, including one of the famous George Wright Central Cookers. During the morning Mesars Dorabjee

The question of a University for Hongkong can hardly be introduced in this modest way-indeed, in no way more satisfactory than by a public discussion. Thereby the possibilities and the difficulties of such a Corporation can be looked at all round by those, who-with wide sympathies towards everything that tends to promote progress and efficiency-can talk about it with freedom and frankness. It may be doubted whether the perfection of wisdom and the soulof progress would open the discussion by laying undue influence on the financial problem connected with such an ambitious undertaking. whose ultimate purpose was to bid farewell This is a problem which time and experience only can effectively solve. Of course a reasonable foresight is to be commended, and there is every reason why those who have just joined the garrison those who think such a University is a here. There was a good gathering, for the desideratum, should also remember that it will cost money. A more pertinent question - which when answered in the affirma tive has frequently led to success in matters of education, as well as in Mrs Brown sang. Such an names are not mentioned here, but they Educational Corporation in Hongkong would surely commend itself to the Chinese, who would, in ever increasing numbers, flock to it, its class-rooms, and

It is a proverbially delicate matter tohandle other people's money, and it is one of the casiest things in the world to suggest ways in which others may become benefactors of the race. Hongkong, however, in the past has not been without its munificent benefactors and probably to-day there are those who would be willing to assist in founding an Imperial University in Hengkong. At any rate, it should not The final game for the Ross Farowell be Utopian to assume that an entente

Whilst this is so, where there is no pretence to a University or Public School education, but one on sound English lines, there is every reason to assume that the number of students able and willing to pay for an adequate modern mental training would be sufficient to fill all available space, and at the same time to furnish sufficient funds to meet all or nearly all current expanditure. But after all, Sir, as you pointed out in your second leader dealing with the question, if we handle the matter of a Hongkong University with a view to seek. ing dividends, and intend to be sure that it will be a money-making concern before we touch it, we should be wiser to consult your share list, with a view to investing any spare dollars we have in Docks or Star Ferry shares. The promotors of such a University, with perhaps the suffrages of the more intelligents natives behind them, should rise for once above the zone of dividends—at last for the start When one approaches the utility of an Imperial University—the measure of blessing it would offer to those who seek its advantages, one is confronted at the first step drawing room, guests' room, gentlemen's the Sergeants' Mess of the Royal West by the somewhat serious obstacle of langu-Konts in a cricket match at Happy Valley Lage, and it can hardly be denied that this offers a serious difficulty. But probably this was intended by those who first of all suggested the wisdom of an Imperial University here. It is true that ediaeval days English students flocked to the University of Paris; further to-day ambitious students from England and France seek residence for a couple of years in one resulted in an easy win for the soldiers by of the German Universities. But these have acquired at least a class-room knowledge of the language at home, and a little short, but that five goals were scored against practice soons results in fluency. There are at present thousands of Chinese played a steady cool game, showing the who, not only in Hongkong and the Treaty better skill of the two, and merited their Ports, but even in the interior cities, are acquiring a smattering of the English tongue, and if it were known that in Hongkong, under a healthy moral influence. a shelter was provided where the more advanced could not only perfect themselves in English, but at the same time secure a sound education. I believe that even at present there are numbers sufficient I to fill the class room, and in ever Increasing numbers enger-minded students would offer silver in exchange for wisdom, and place the guidance of their minds in the keeping of those capable of directing them. Such a University. 9. THE BOYCOTT IN INDIA

BY AN INDIAN.

At the present moment, when one hears so much of the Chinese Boycott of Amer can goods, I think it would be of some interest to the readers of the CHINA MAIL, to know the views held by an average Indian, concerning the 'Indian Boycott of Foreign Goods. The writer of these lines. left India in the middle of October last, when the Boycott was at its height NAVIES and LEADING STEAMSHIP

ITS CAUSE.

The present Indian Boycott was brought alout by the passing of the scheme for the partition of Bengal into two provinces. people of Bengal, in one voice, strongly protested against this move on the part of the Indian Government. The entire native press agitated against it, meetings were held all over Bengal, petitions and resolutions were sent up to the Government and all other constitutional means were adopted to prevent this bill being passed. The people in the sister provinces sympathised with the Bengalees and the whol the Officers of the Garrison. Second to native press in India agitated against the PHONES, BRONZES, FANOY GOODS, scheme being translated into action. But etc. Lord Curzon, the then head of the Supreme

Government of India, was firm in carrying Second to receive $100; and Third $50. I face of the unanimous protests of the people. and resolutions were sent up to the Secretary of State for India to prevent, if possible, his sanction being accorded to this act. But all'these proved in vain, and October 16 was fixed as the day when, the new scheme would come into operation. To discuss, here, as to who was in the right, the Government or the people, would be futile and out of the province of the subject in hand.

> of the partition scheme being thus brought into operation against the universal and omphatic protests of the people, was the boyco t of English goods. The people pledged themselves to beycott the English goods, to use as far as possible Indian articles, to protect the Home industries and to encourage Indian artisans and skilled

A DISPASSIONATE VIEW. The writer of these lines would leave alone the political aspect of the question; for despite the present boycott of foreign goods being the immediate result of the never have been brought about in its present intensity but for the partition; yet, it is in the 'industrial' and 'commercial' aspect alone that it concerns the outer world, or has been taken up by the people of the other provinces of India. The latter considered is sure to lead one to a dispassionate view of the whole question. In India, the movement is known by the name of 'Swadeshi' and as such is not a new movement at all, but has, in fact, existed all along, in all parts of India. 'Swadeshi' means 'For the Country,' and, it is not India alone which fosters this ' Swadeshi ' spirit. In England, Germany, United States, Japan and other enlightened countries, you find this 'Swadeshi' sentiment—the sentiment to stand by one's country, to try to develop its resources, to encourage the Home industries, and to patronize indigenous products in preference to the imported goods; these sentiments, I should think, are such that any nation or country may well be proud of. And yet the Beycott of foreign goods in India,' which is so much stigmatized, has for its aim these very things and would never have been taken up by the people of the provinces other than Bengal, had it another objectin view. The 'Swadeshi' movement aims at developing the resources of India. protecting the indigenous industries, and encouraging the Indian workmen, artisans, and labourous. At present, India is a country which produces raw materials only, which are sent abroad where they undergo manufacture by skilled labour and are then again shipped back to India. The price which India has to pay for these raw materials to be manufactured goes to foreign workpeople while the Indian workmen, artisans, and labourers, are dying with hunger. The sole object of the 'Swadeshi' or 'Boycott' movement is to reverse this order of things and produce may lead India, to treat its raw materials within the country, and instead of sending its money to the foreign countries, may use it in developing industry until it ranks as a manufacturing country and supports its people. This is the light in which the average Indian sees this question, and this is the view which is being emphasised by the native press of India.

AN OLD MOVEMENT. As I have said above, this is not a new movement, whatever. The partition of Bengal has brought it to the fore and given it a great deal of intensity. Thus the movement is devoid of any political aspect whatsoever. I know this movement has existed in the l'unish, the province I come from, for a very long time. We heard of it when we were small children. I was told the other day that a few people had started a 'Swadeshi' store at Rawalpindi, several years back, and pledged themselves rever THE Steamship to use foreign articles, as far as possible. I was further told that a similar store was opened in Labore as early as the eighties His Excellency Sir Matthew Nathan, and several people pledged themselves to For Freight or Passage, K.C.M.G. Second to receive $100; and discard, as far as it lay in their power, For Freight or Passage, goods of foreign manufacture. Similar stores and shops, I am sure, would have been opened in other parts of India and Second to receive $150; and Third $50. | people resolved to encourage their country. men in manufacturing different articles. These things show that slways there have been people in India who have cherished the sentiment of being 'For their Country,' and that this movement is not a new It is a matter of great regret, if, as it is and Third $50. For China Ponies that alleged by some Anglo-Indian papers, that have been in the Colony prior to 1st some college boys have committed some September, 1905, and Griffins on date of indiscretions, as assaulting professors or creating rowe, but, these cannot brand the Swadeshi! as a political movement, upon | One of thee Best Sketches of Formess Life which the country's Government looks with distayor. An average Indian thinks that the British Government always wishes the Indians prosperity and the thought that the Government is against a man cherishing the sentiments of 'Swadeshi,' cannot enter into the mind of an Indian. An average Indian thinks that the idea of Patriction Griffins of this Season. ONE MILE tism proporty speaking has been the result of English education and perhaps never existed before the advent of the English; and he feels grateful to the nation which gave him the idea of tetanding by his country. Indians uphold the boveottmovement because they see that by means of this they will be able to regenerate their country industrially, upon which they think that the future of India depends, And, there are, Litual, southmonts, with which every just man in South China and elsowhere, will symphatise.
